superior. There are seventy thousand tobacco hills which may be put in that will make good tobacco without manure, and there is plenty of the very best tobacco land that may be cleared. THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Editor.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1865.

THE NATIONAL UNION TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR

Jonathan Worth, Esq.

OF RANDOLPH.

THE PEOPLE must be trusted with their Government, and if trusted, my opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union.—Andrew Johnson's Letter to Gov. Sharkey, of Mississippi.

THE NATIONAL UNION PARTY.

We acknowledge His Excellency, ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, to be the head and leader of the great National Union party. His reconstruction policy is at present the basis of that party, and we stand firmly upon it. This is the only party we acknowledge in this State.

President Johnson's Administration.

So far the Sentinel has given the administration of President Johnson a warm and earnest support, the false charges of the Standard to the contrary notwithstanding. We have done so, not simply as a matter of policy but from principle—not because his policy and measures have been merciful to the South merely, but because he has made the Constitution the rule, and true Southern magnanimity the temper of his action. His interpretation of that instrument has been statesman-like and liberal, yet avoiding the wild, fanatical and latitudinous construction of the radicals of the North. His policy has been such as to sustain the declarations of the conservative war party of the North and to justify their persistence and expenditure, in that they were fighting to maintain and restore the Union, not to destroy slavery, to degrade the white race nor to annihilate any members of the great family of States. The preservation of the States intact, has been with him a great cardinal principle—a principle essential to the Constitution, to the frame work of the government itself, and to the preservation of American rights and liberty.—We always regarded the dismemberment of the Union as a shock to the great principle of constitutional liberty here, which jeopardied its very life, and hence our repugnance to the doctrine of secession. The destruction of African slavery, while it impinges the Constitution and nullifies its compromises, yet the President regards its loss as a fit penalty for the revolution, but in its final results will work for the good of the South and of the nation. He declares that he always held that slavery was not only not an element of strength but of positive weakness to the South, and the result proves his sagacity.

But while the policy of President Johnson commends itself to us, because he makes the Constitution the basis of his action, it is equally grateful because of the magnanimity he has displayed in its execution, notwithstanding the high pressure check with which Northern radicalism sought to hold him back.

The excited state of the public feeling at the North, and the melancholy circumstances which shrouded the country at the time when the destiny of the nation was placed in his hands, almost for the moment obliterated all hope of generosity or of justice to the South. But fortunately for us the President was a Southron himself, and knew full well that the whole Southern heart revolted at the bastard, diabolical act which had plunged the nation in grief. A sense of duty impelled him to punish the revolution by putting its leaders under the ban, and the demands of the radicals forced upon him the exhibition of a rigorous and vindictive spirit for the course, but as the excitement passed off and the temper of the North began to beat healthfully, his own generous spirit has kept pace with it, and he began to exhibit a reach of statesmanship, a vigor and a wisdom in executive ability, and a magnanimity of spirit, which even his best friends had not attributed to him.

His purpose to abide by the Constitution—to restore the States to their original status without unnecessary delay—to trust the people in the matter of restoration by providing the shortest way to return to their allegiance and the full rights of citizenship—the withdrawal of the troops—the restoration of the lands and real estate of the people—his discouragement and dislike of confiscation, and his readiness to extend Executive clemency where his own generous impulses are not interfered with by Northern or Southern radicalism, constitute President Johnson the most popular man in the South, and the object of admiration among all right thinking people.

Colonel Russ.

We are obliged to Mr. Turner for the correction of an erroneous statement in regard to Col. Russ' declarations in his Smithfield speech, which we published upon the authority of others. We would not knowingly misrepresent any one.

Mr. Pell will please correct an error in regard to what Col. Russ said in his speech at Smithfield. I know the Sentinel did not wish to do the Colonel injustice, and I would be equally unwilling that erroneous representations should be published as to the tenor of his remarks.

Col. Russ did not say he "always rejoiced at Federal victories and deprecated a Confederate victory," but said that he "did nothing for the Confederacy—that he was never with it," and slapping his hand upon his breast, he thanked God that we had failed."

Very respectfully,

JOSIAH TURNER, Jr.

"The Sentinel" and the War Debt.

The Standard's cry of mad dog, disturbs us very little. Its fice-like bark now-a-days scares no one but the timorous and the weak. Hence its charge of "rebellious language" against us has excited no haste to reply. If it had a particle of ingenuousness or justice, it would have given us the benefit of our caveat, and of our former positive declarations in regard to the demands of the government upon the State war debt. But we expect neither from the Standard.

In our discussion some weeks ago, of the repudiation of the State war debt, we several times remarked that if the government demanded its repudiation or non-assumption, as a sine qua non or as a ground of the restoration of the State, there was an end to the question—the government would thereby take the moral blame of the act upon its own shoulders and thus relieve the State. But the Standard gave us no benefit of these declarations.

The "humiliation" and the degradation to which the Convention submitted, we did not attribute to the position of the President. For we had admitted the right of the government as our conqueror to require the repudiation as a test of the restoration of the State. Moreover, we stated in the article from which the Standard garbles, that we did not regard the telegram of the President to the Convention as dictating to that body what it must do. It was the circumstances under which the thing was done that worked the "humiliation." Prior to the meeting of the Convention, it was generally understood, that declaring the act of secession null, the abolition of slavery and the passage of such ordinances as those two acts required, were all that was absolutely required in order to our restoration. The Standard says, that Mississippi, South Carolina and Alabama had repudiated the State war debt. If any other State, except Alabama had done so, our Convention did not know it, and it has not been officially announced. If the government demanded it, it had not been authoritatively put forth, at least, since the plan of reconstruction had been perfected. Our Convention met under the impression that the government did not demand repudiation. It had been agreed, the Governor and Standard assenting, that the question of assumption should not be touched by the Convention, but that it should be adjourned over to the Legislature, after the people had been consulted.—Moreover, the Convention had been unofficially advised by Dr. Powell through the Governor, that the Cabinet at Washington did not favor any action upon that subject. The Convention being opposed to repudiation and equally opposed then to assuming the debt, acting under these lights, had properly laid the whole matter on the table. Now the "humiliation" lies here. On the point of adjournment, the Convention is astounded by the presentation of a telegram from the President to the Governor, which the advocates of repudiation at once declare is a peremptory demand from the President to repudiate as a condition of Union. As soon as this part of the game is effected, they turn around and throw utter discredit upon that declaration, by proposing to submit the question to the people. If it was a demand of the President—a sine qua non in order to the admission of the State, why submit it to the people? The only object of the people in sending delegates to the Convention, was that they should do everything necessary to put the State back into the Union.

Now in our article, for which the Standard charges us with rebellion, we distinctly declared that we did not regard the telegram as a dictation—as a sine qua non, but that it was simply a reply to a letter or telegram, setting forth the President's opinions and wishes—that the telegram bore evident marks that the President did not precisely understand the state of the question before the Convention nor the purposes of the body, and hence had dictated the telegram under a partial view of the facts. We still contend that so far as the public have evidence, the telegram does not indicate that the President intended it for the Convention in that form—that the telegram contains no dictation, but the opinions and wishes of the President, and that it was humiliating to that body to place it in the position which forced its action under the circumstances. We contended then, and we insist upon it now, that it is due to the President, and it is due to the Convention, that the letter or telegram to which the President's telegram is a reply, shall be given to the public.

Dr. Powell Again.

This man is likely to make himself very notorious, if not very popular in North Carolina. A friend informs us of a movement of his, which is not likely to prove successful, but which ought nevertheless to be known to the people of the State.

The amount of Executive patronage in this State is respectable. The postmasters, collectors of customs, assessors, &c., amount to 1500 persons or more. Usually, it is considered that these officers should not only be "honest and capable," but that they should be undoubted friends of the administration. Dr. Powell, it seems, is determined to exert himself to secure as much as possible of this patronage to his friend, Gov. Holden. We learn that he has brought all his efforts to bear upon the several heads of Bureaus at Washington, to secure from them a pledge that they will appoint or recommend no one for office from this State, who is not recommended by Gov. Holden. We learn that he is not very successful with the Heads, and that the President entirely disapproves of Dr. Powell's proposition.

We call the attention of shippers to the advertisement of Messrs. W. H. Oliver & Co., of Newbern.

P. H. Winston, Jr.

The Standard in its rage, is striking in every direction like a blind adder maddened to desperation. Of Mr. Winston, it says:

"He was very desirous, others may know the reason, of grinding down the people of the State with a treason debt of Fifty millions."

The State war debt proper has never been estimated at a larger sum than $20,000,000 Confederate money! Mr. Winston authorizes us to say, that he does not own a single dollar of the bonds of the State, old or new, nor a cent of the Treasury notes. Nor does he know of more than one man in Franklin County who owns any of the war debt except one, a guardian or trustee, whom he hears has a small amount.

Mr. Winston, when before the people for the Convention, read to them from the Sentinel and Standard as containing his views, as to the duty of the Convention on the war debt, in which they advised that the question of the war debt should not be touched by the Convention, neither to assume the war debt nor repudiate it.

Mr. Winton, as a member of the Convention, took exactly the view which had been suggested by the Standard. He made the report from the committee as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC AND PRIVATE DEBTS.

The committee to whom the questions touching the public and private debts were referred, ask leave to make the following report, in reference to the debt of the State:

They have heard no difference of opinion with regard to the debt of the State before the war, known as the "old debt." All persons concur in the sentiment and the purpose that this debt should be and shall be faithfully paid.

As to the debt since the 20th of May, 1861, much diversity of opinion exists. Information is needed as to what part of it was for one purpose rather than another. The entire amount of it, and many other facts concerning it material to be known, are not yet fully ascertained.

The committee are of opinion that there should be, and will be a recess and subsequent session of this body. They so understand the general sentiment of the Convention. The establishment of North Carolina as a State in the Union is the great and leading object of our people. This, in the judgment of the committee, renders it prudent that there should not be a final adjournment now.

The committee recommend that no action of any kind be had at the present session in regard to the old or the new debt of the State.

They therefore ask to be discharged from the further consideration of said public debt at the present session.

Respectfully submitted,

P. H. WINSTON, JR.

This report was sustained by the Convention by laying the whole subject on the table. He took no ground at all, except the simple position that he had not conferred with his people; that neither he nor they had the necessary information on the subject, and endorsed the views of Mr. Boyden and others to the same effect.

So far from grinding the people with a debt of even five millions, Mr. Winston avowed that if at a future day, when the necessary information was had, he should favor the payment of the new debt or any part of it, he would not consent to adopt Mr. Conigland's rate of scaling, but would scale the debt, according to its value in the hands of the present holders, and not the original purchasers. That as France did with the assignats, and as America did with her continental money, he would scale as of the value at a later period than the date of issue. With this mode of scaling, he thought the holders ought to be and would be satisfied, and thus guardians, trustees and other innocent persons would not raise the cry of repudiation against the State. He insisted that in case of ultimate payment, two millions at the outside, was every dollar that should be paid.

The foregoing was Mr. Winston's course on the subject. He desires us to say in answer to the charge of the Standard that he among others wants office, that the late war has left him too poor to take an office, and that there is no office, National or State that he would accept.

Hon. W. Rayner.

It appears that our informant was again incorrect in giving us an account of the County Meeting on Saturday last. We have received from our friend Mr. Rayner, another long article correcting the error into which we were led, but which on account of its length we are obliged to decline, because of the crowded state of our columns.

Mr. R. says there were seventy five or eighty persons present—that no one was nominated, but that those present simply expressed their preferences, the object being to induce gentlemen who had not announced themselves, to do so.—Mr. R. also says there was nothing said about a "Holden ticket." Mr. R distinctly stated that he would not run as the candidate of any party, faction or clique—that he was a candidate without reference to party—that he would not run as a "Holden man" or as a "Worth man,"—but if the people asked him for whom he should vote, he would say that he should vote for Gov. Holden and gave his reasons for so doing. Mr. R. spoke of Mr. Worth in the highest terms.

The above we believe are all the essential points in Mr. Rayner's article, but not so fully or so well expressed. Our informant felt authorized we suppose, to call it a "Holden ticket," from the fact that all the gentlemen nominated, had declared it to be their purpose to support Gov. Holden.

Hon. Josiah Turner.

It is now fully ascertained that all of Mr. Turner's competitors, Col. Russ, Col. Edwards and Col. Arrington, are decided supporters of Gov. Holden. Mr. Turner supports Mr. Worth alone, and we look forward to his triumphant election. The attacks of the Standard will only add to his vote.

Poor Old Johnston.

During the Convention, when it was noised abroad that Mr. Worth would likely yield to the solicitations of his friends and become a candidate for Governor, we learn that Maj. Smith, the member from Johnston County went to Mr. Worth and after urging him very strongly not to run, at length told him that if he did, he would not get a vote in Johnston! The Major seems to think that he has Johnston in his breeches pocket and can use the people as he pleases. And really sometimes things look down there a good deal like it. Yet the day will come when the Major will be laid out by those people as cold as a wedge, and we hope it is not far distant. We know those people, and many of them are as intelligent, high souled and independent as any we know, and they will take matters in their own hands. We should not be surprised, if the vote for Worth and Turner startles the Major.

A reliable and excellent citizen of that county, has given us a very caustic and amusing account of the meeting at Smithfield for the nomination of candidates. The pressure upon our columns and the length of the article obliges us to omit it. But we must append his account of the "straitest sect" party down there. He says:

"I don't know how it is in other localities, but here in Johnston, this "straitest sect," conservatism, is a slough, a sort of mongrel, neither fish nor flesh;—it is made up of the odds and ends of the old Democratic and Whig parties, secession and anti-secession, with but little manners and less brains.

SMITHFIELD."

Mrs. Pender's School.

We take pleasure in calling special attention to the Female School of Mrs. Pender near Salem. She is the widow of the late gallant Gen. Pender, whose high position in the Confederate army, made him an honor to the State. The school will entitle itself to the patronage of the public.

It will gratify the numerous friends of Gov. Graham in the State, to see that the people of Orange have brought him out for the State Senate. The ticket for the Commons, S. F. Phillips Esq. and Col. Webb, is all right. The whole ticket will be triumphantly elected.

Fractional Currency.

The Raleigh National Bank can supply any amount of small bills or Fractional currency which may be desired by merchants or others.

George Badger Harris Esq., of Granville, it will be seen is a candidate for the House of Commons.

Maj. W. F. Collins we learn, has announced himself an independent candidate in Granville County, for the House of Commons.

PUBLIC MEETING IN ORANGE.

ORANGE CO., Oct. 27th, 1865.

MR. EDITOR: There was a very large meeting of the citizens of this County at Hillsboro' on yesterday, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the General Assembly. Every portion of the County was represented by some of the best of our people. Great interest and unanimity prevailed.

Gov. Graham was nominated for the Senate, and Mr. S. F. Phillips and Col. Robt. F. Webb, late Colonel of the 6th N. C. Regt., were nominated for the Commons. The nominations were unanimous. They are all Worth men, and will support that gentleman for Governor. The same may be said, so far as I have heard, of all the other County candidates.

The people of Orange, at least, are determined to uphold the liberal and conservative policy of President Johnson, and place their feet firmly and surely upon the proscriptive spirit of the "straitest sect" which puts such men as Gov. Graham and Josiah Turner under the ban of their most righteous indignation. They are determined to rebuke the partisan and illiberal spirit manifested by the delegate from Burke, in the Convention, and at that time the aid of Gov. Holden, and consequently cognizant of his political opinions and wishes, in an earnest attempt to prevent persons who have been in the civil or military service of the State or Confederate States, from being exempt from all personal liability for any act done in the proper discharge of any duties imposed on them by any authority purporting to be a law of the State or Confederate States; and they will do so in the most marked manner, by returning without opposition, the gentleman, (Mr. Phillips), who by a summary process quashed the very patriotic proposition of that delegate, who thus desired to make war upon his fellow citizens after they had been pardoned by our noble President.

The people of Orange desire a Governor who will transact his business openly with the President of the United States and not through a mystical, unreliable Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary, who makes unsuccessful attempts to injure the character of our best citizens for "party purposes," and requires a "mandamus" to be issued for the application for pardon of distinguished North Carolinians, from the office of the Attorney General, which should have been duly filed in the office of that cabinet officer, but which are "suspended" in the ample "pigeon holes" of the "State agent," and reluctantly brought out, under pretext, by this convenient functionary.

By the way, who are taxed to pay the salary of this Dr. Powell?

ORANGE.

A Sensible View.

A gentleman who served with distinction as an officer in the Union army, during the whole of the war, and who is now one of the most respected citizens of this town, remarked in our hearing the other day, speaking of the merits of the candidates for Governor, that if he was entitled to a vote at the coming election, he wished to cast it either for a man who had always been a uniformly consistent straight forward Union man, or for one who boldly espoused the cause of the Confederacy, and fought for the establishment of the Confederate Government. This is the proper view for all to take in the selection of officers. Mr. Worth comes under the first head in all respects. His opponent comes under neither head. During the war, from any act or speech of Mr. Holden, it cannot be inferred where he stood. And as our Yankee friend truly remarked, such men will not do to trust at a time like this.—Greensboro Patriot

To the Voters of Wake County.

At the request of many voters I am a candidate in this County for the House of Commons of the General Assembly.

The Convention requested the Governor to appoint a committee of three persons to prepare and report to the Legislature a system of laws for freedmen, and to specify what laws relating to them, ought to be repealed. He has done me the honor to designate me as one of them. This work, with other indispensable engagements, will so occupy my whole time as to forbid my mingling much, if any, with the people.

I avail myself of this occasion to assure you of my grateful sense of your confidence recently expressed in electing me to the Convention. If I am honored again by your confidence, I shall strive to merit it by my services. Very respectfully yours,

"Keep Cool."

We love to agree with the Court Journal.—Every body the other day was refreshed by its soothing editorial. It said "there is no reason for any excitement over the approaching election. When an issue is being forced upon the people to agitate them, the best course is to tell them to keep cool! keep cool!" And so every body kept cool for several days. But when Jonathan Worth was announced as a candidate, the boot was on the other leg, and "such a rumpus and a rioting" as was then stirred up by the Juvenile, has not been heard since the "hurly burly" among the witches of Macbeth. They could not keep cool any longer. Touch not the anointed, exclaimed these innocent young men. It will injure our craft. "Great is Diana of the Ephesians," and many other devotional hortations in the same pious strain. They were awfully skeerd for fear we might be too cool, we would have to "STAY OUT" till we shivered, and would have our feet frost bitten, and thereby catch too much of a good thing.

But, "keep cool!" say the boys. "Is there any danger that you will be brow-beaten and insulted by officials and newspapers, or that you will be immured in dungeons without recourse of law; or that East Tennesseeism will be inaugurated at Raleigh? Is there anything of the sort to be apprehended? No." There might seem to be a spice of irony or mockery at least, in this, as only two days before, a citizen had been expelled from the Public Library, on suspicion of searching the public records for elegant extracts to be used in the coming election.

But we are comforted with the following extract from the great poet. Who's afeard now?

"Be just and fear not.

"Let all the aims thou aim'st at be thy country's, Thy God's and truth's."

The italics are just as we find them. So let all the friends of that "just" man Jonathan Worth give him their vote and "fear not." Let them fearlessly act for their country, their God and truth.

It is now well ascertained, that our frank, noble-hearted and patriotic President has neither expressed a threat that we shall be "LEFT OUT" in the cold, if we elect "any man with a good Union record," nor has he even intimated a preference for either of the candidates for Governor. Let the friends of Mr. Worth then be just and fear not. They will not be punished by the President, neither will he allow them to be punished for exercising their free choice, by any one over whom he has control.

But "we are going home to the old mansion of the Union. President Johnson stands in the door to shake our hands, to give us a hearty welcome." So far, so good, we are all of one mind in our house about that. We believe it, and the confidence we have in the kind and paternal feelings of the noble man who, in spite of our errors, standing ready to welcome us back to the home from which we have wandered, under the guidance of some very faithless leaders, will ever hereafter commend our gratitude to him, and fidelity to the cause which he has so bravely espoused.

But listen to the unsophisticated youths. "Shall we ride the horse President Johnson gave us, or shall we swap him off for another? This is no time for swapping horses. The President will want to see his old nag—he prefers him, as we all know. No time now to swap off the President's horse."

Aye there's the rub. If the "President's horse" (Heaven help us!) was rather slow in his gate, and though he had gained the start, was the hindmost horse but one in the race, will the President be very proud to "see his old nag?" We would ask the young sportsmen if this is natural among men of the turf? If this "nag" was snuffing danger on every side, and saw bug a boos all around him, and wavered from one side to the other of the track instead of moving Mark Anthony "right on"—to the goal. May it not be as well to make a swap? Let us try that old Union wheel-horse Jonathan Worth, who never wavered, who has no ghost of the past to rise up and frighten him from his straight forward course, who is not afraid to work behind him, in his long and steady lope towards that re-union which we all so much desire. Let us present at the "door of the old mansion" our gift; and ask the President to examine him well, and see if he has any wind-galls or bruises or spavins from galloping over forbidden fields. We will also exhibit the record of his exploits, which is open to all citizens. There shall be no expulsion, when the record of Jonathan Worth is to be examined. The President shall have the whole—nothing extenuating—and if the record does not put to shame, that of the so called "President's nag" than these young men of the turf may "spit upon the writer and call him a horse."

The people of the State will rejoice at the following communication of the Standard of last Friday. "Our people are now free. They can go to the polls, holding up their heads like men and vote for the men of their choice" &c. So let those who have been trembling at the unfounded fear of "staying out" take courage, and vote for the man of their choice. R.

Discussion at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, October 26th, 1865.

Mr. Editor:—The candidates for Congress spoke here to day. Your readers know the points discussed by them.

When they were through Mr. Lucian N. Battle announced himself a candidate for the Senate against Mr. J. G. Williams. Mr. Battle said he had gone with Gov. Holden all his life for secession; that the Standard had taught him a State had the right to secede, but he could not and would not vote for Gov. Holden. He should vote for Jonathan Worth, an honest and able man, who had always talked and voted against secession. He thought the blood of the country was as much upon Billy Holden as Billy Yancy; they had generally been together in their political views, they did separate in the Charleston Convention, but they soon came together again. He astonished the audience by telling them his cousin Baldy Arrington was a Holden candidate for Congress—said Col. A was his kinsman. He respected him, he had never failed to vote for him, but he could not do so now—for the Colonel was in communication with W. W. Holden. Mr. Holden had sent him 200 copies of the Standard to distribute and had made the Colonel a Justice of the Peace, and when a neighbor had expressed surprise at cousin Baldy's voting for Mr. Holden, Cousin Baldy said he was the —— —— in the State, but he should vote for him. Mr. B. said he preferred to vote for an honest man and be beaten.

He said the day after Cousin Baldy received the 200 Standard's, and a message from Mr. Holden, Cousin B. went to Rocky Mount and telegraphed to put his name in the paper for Congress.

Mr. Battle said the way to show your devotion to the Union was to vote for Jonathan Worth.

A H-Y-M-E FOR THE TIMES.

From Cherokee's high mountains
To Currituck's low strand,
From Ashe's flashing fountains,
To Brunswick's swamps and sand,
From Yadkin's nob'e river
To Bertie's piny plain,
They ca'l us to deliver
"Old Rip" from Holden's reign.

What though the Standard's breezes
Provoke our scornful smile,
What though they never please us—
We know their author's vi'e;
In vain with lavish kindness
Our bread to him was thrown,
In worse than heathen blindness
He gave us back a stone!

Shall we whose souls are lighted
With wisdom from on high,
Forget that we've been slighted
His "Excellency" by?
O never! no! forever
The joyful sound proclaim,
He sought our ranks to sever—
We give him now to shame.

Waft, waft, ye winds, the story,
And you, old Yadkin, roll,
And rally, sons of glory,
Beat him from poll to poll;
Till o'er our ran om'd people,
Now fretting 'neath the chain,
Peace, harmony, and plenty,
In bliss return to reign!

"Infamously False."

Standard Oct. 19, 1865.

"It is sufficient for us to say that we hold to the right of secession, as an original, pre-existing, reserved sovereign right."—Standard Jan. 15, 1851.

"We hold as we have uniformly held * * * * * that the only alternative left to the minority of the States, will be to withdraw or secede from such a government, and provide new guards for their future security, and that in so doing they will go forward under the authority of the Sovereign States," &c.—Standard Sept. 3, 1861.

"As soon as Lincoln called for troops to make war on the South we denounced him as a usurper, and turned our back on the old Union, without end. We did that too with the most entire consistency for we have always held that the States had a right to secede for cause."—Standard Oct. 30, 1861.

"The charge that Gov. Holden was ever a secessionist is infamously false."!!!!!—Standard Oct. 19, 1865.

Who wrote the first three of these extracts? And who wrote the last? Who is thus branded with "infamous falsehood?" And by whom? Are these young men mad? Will they not be rebuked for disrespect to parents, and patrons; and will the people bear patiently such scan: mag: of their honored Chief Executive? He says on January 1851, that he held to the right of secession. On Sept. of that year, that he ad uniformly held that the only alternative &c., would be to withdraw or secede, and under the authority of the Sovereign States. And in Oct. 1861, that he had always held that the States had a right to secede, for cause. Is the charge that Governor Holden was ever a secessionist "infamously false?" It is a "stereotyped lie," as these youths say it is? If they did not know about this, they ought to have known. The bound files of the Standard are at their command. They will not be driven away when they wish to study the contents of those very interesting volumes. They are not forced to grope their way in the dark, when pursuing historical studies. Light is at their command. And with a little industry in their researches, they could make their statements very authentic. Above all, let them severally practice the 5th Commandment, and not cast filth on their master's crib. It is very unfilial—very ungraceful—and rather ungrateful.

No one supposes our Governor to be a secessionist now. No body imputes to him that error, for the last several years. But as to the dark past, why should these interesting young men butt their precious heads against that post, after so distressing a fashion? Do they not deserve many stripes from their offended "parent" and patron? Will he not punish them severely for their irreverence and ingratitude? Moreover, suppose some excitable gentleman, whom no such intimate relations restrain, who had been long a reader and devout believer in that paper, had spoken the same language in the innocency of his heart, and should now deem himself personally aggrieved and insulted by having his honest assertion pronounced "infamously false," and a "stereotyped lie," and should happen to call on those young gentlemen, might they not be subject to some slight embarrassment? How could they answer the call? What satisfaction would they be willing to give to the irate gentleman?—Is it not possible that they might find themselves in a tight place? Tossed as it were on the horn of a dilemma from which it might be somewhat difficult to accomplish a "safe and happy deliverance?" It is to be hoped, if such call should be made that they will act a manly part, and scorn to call a Cassius for help, and to keep them from sinking.

The above are only three out of many evidences that our Governor was once, and for years, a secessionist. Jonathan Worth has never been tainted with that heresy. Only one act of his long and patriotic life has been adduced as even having a squint in that direction. That was his vote against the postponement of Mr. Turner's Declaration of Independence. The object of that vote and of those resolutions was to choke off secession. No one knows it better than the Governor himself. We believe that every Union Senator (13 in number) voted with Messrs. Turner and Worth; and that every secession Senator and every one who had secession proclivities and was desirous of hastening the dissolution of the Union, (21 in number,) voted together against Messrs. Turner and Worth. It was well understood at the time as a hasty movement by the Union men to take the wind out of the sails of secession. The young gentlemen even knows that—and by suppressing the names of the Senators who voted on either side, and the avowed objects of this merely party ruse, they attempt to create the erroneous impression, that Josiah Turner and Jonathan Worth are, and have been disunionists! Why, every woman and child knew that their love for the Union amounted to a passion—and that they were even reproached as factionists for their almost violent efforts to thwart the designs of the secessionists to take our State out of the Union. It is evidently twanging on the wrong string. Let not those brave patriots be forgotten now. Q.

Ordinances and Resolutions passed by the North Carolina State Convention, First Session 1865.

AN ORDINANCE

Declaring vacant all the offices of the State in existence on the twenty-sixth day of April, eighteen hundred and sixty-five:

WHEREAS, no person elected or appointed to any officer under the State can rightfully claim any vested interest therein until he shall have taken the oath to support the Constitution of the United States as prescribed in that instrument, and also an oath of office: and whereas, those officers, who did take such oaths and thereafter took an oath to support the Constitution of the Confederate States, did thereby incur the penalty of forfeiting their offices, and are incapable of resuming the duties thereof to which they were respectively elected or appointed, without again taking the like oaths:

And whereas, it is in the power of the Convention to allow or deny to such persons the privilege of again qualifying themselves anew by taking such oath: and this Convention deems it expedient, after so great a popular convulsion as has happened amongst the people of this State, that all such offices should be filled a new by persons hereafter chosen or appointed:

Be it ordained by the delegates of the people in this Convention assembled, and it is hereby ordained, by authority of the same, That no officer of the State who may have taken an oath of office to support the Constitution of the Confederate States shall be capable of holding under the State any office or place of trust or profit which he held when he took such oath to support the Constitution of the Confederate States until he may be re-appointed or re elected to the same; and all the offices lately held by such persons are hereby declared vacant.

[Ratified in Convention, this nineteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.]

Upon Resignations and Vacancies:

Be it ordained by the delegates of the people of North Carolina, in Convention assembled, and it is hereby ordained and declared by the same, That all resignations of seats in this Convention, during intervals between the sessions of the same, shall be in writing, and shall be forwarded to the Governor of the State; and that in case vacancies shall occur in this Convention, whether by resignation or otherwise during such intervals, the Governor of the State, upon being notified thereof, shall issue writs of election, as provided in the sixteenth section of the fifty-second chapter of the Revised Code, in regard to members of the General Assembly.

[Ratified in Convention, this seventeenth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.]

EDWIN G. READE, President.

JAS. H MOORE, Secretary of the Convention.
R. C. BADGER, Assistant Secretary.

RESOLUTIONS

Requesting the President to proclaim the people of North Carolina restored to their rights and privileges under the Constitution and the Union:

1. Resolved, by the delegates of the people of North Carolina, in Convention assembled, That the good people of the State of North Carolina, now relieved from the constraint of the late military usurpation by the lawful action of the government of the United States, under the powers delegated to it by them to "suppress insurrections and repel invasions," do willingly resume their duty of allegiance and support to the Constitution and the Union, and claim the reciprocal protection, rights and guaranties secured to them by the same, as loyal and peaceful citizens.

Resolved, That all purpose of resistance to the government of the United States has ceased in this State—and that there will be no attempt to renew it in any form, and that the President of the United States be, and he is hereby respectfully requested, at as early a day as he deems consistent with the general welfare to discontinue the operation of military law in North Carolina, and that he make known by public proclamation that the good people of the State of North Carolina are restored to the full enjoyment and exercise of the rights and privileges secured to them by the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions duly authenticated, be sent to the President of the United States, and to the Provisional Governor of the State.

[Ratified in Convention on this eighteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.]

EDWIN G. READE, President.

JAMES H. MOORE, Secretary of the Convention.
R. C. BADGER, Assistant Secretary.

A RESOLUTION

Requesting the Governor to correspond with the President of the United States, with regard to officers and citizens confined by the military authorities in New Berne, Raleigh and Wilmington, North Carolina:

Resolved, by the delegates in Convention assembled, That Governor Holden be requested to correspond with the President of the United States in relation to Major Willis Sanderlin, now confined by the military authorities in the town of New Berne; Neill McGill and J. Leonidas McMillan, citizens of the county of Bladen, and members of the Home Guard, who are now confined by the military authorities at Wilmington, on the charge of killing a deserter before the surrender; also with regard to Captain Wilson, who was a Confederate officer, and is now confined in the City of Raleigh, and use his endeavors to have them turned over to the civil authorities, for presentment, indictment and trial in the respective counties where the offences are alleged to have been committed.

[Ratified in Convention, this eighteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.]

EDWIN G. READE, President.

JAS. H. MOORE, Secretary of the Convention.
R. C. BADGER, Assistant Secretary.

RESOLUTIONS.

Upon the subject of a total Amnesty to the people of North Carolina:

Resolved, That under the strong impressions, which it has conceived of the kindness and wisdom displayed by His Excellency President Johnson, in composing the troubles that have arisen out of the recent rebellion; this Convention ventures to express a hope, that if not incompatible with the views which His Excellency's better information enables him to take of the present situation of affairs, he will speedily proclaim a total amnesty for political offences to all the good people of North Carolina, upon their taking the oath prescribed in his proclamation of May twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and sixty-five.

[Ratified in Convention, this twelfth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.]

EDWIN G. READE, President.

JAMES H. MOORE, Secretary of the Convention.
R. C. BADGER, Assistant Secretary.

FOR CONGRESS.

COL. JAMES R. LOVE.

WE are authorized to announce Col. JAMES R. LOVE of Jackson County, as a Conservative—National Union Candidate for a seat in the House of Representives of the United States, in the 7th Congressional District, composed of the Counties of Ashe, Alleghany, Watauga, Yancy, Mitchell, McDowell, Burke, Caldwell, Rutherford, Cleaveland, Polk, Henderson, Transylvania, Buncombe, Madison, Haywood, Jackson, Macon, Cherokee and Clay. Oct. 25 1865.

TO THE VOTERS

Of the Fourth Congressional District, composed of the Counties of Orange, Chatham, Granville, Warren, Franklin, Wake, Johnson and Nash:

FELLOW CITIZENS:—I hereby announce myself a candidate to represent you in the next Congress of the United States. The short time between this and the day of election, precludes the possibility of a canvass. Indeed, in the present condition of the country, a heated political campaign should be deprecated by all. The particular measures that will claim the attention of the ensuing Congress, cannot now with certainty be known. Hence, idle speculations and precedent pledges are vain and unnecessary. There is one question however, which seems to be agitating to some extent the minds of the people both North and South, but which properly comes within the purview of the State Legislature. I allude to negro suffrage, to which I am utterly opposed. I am in favor, as no doubt all of us are, of the speedy restoration of civil law in the State.

If I am honored fellow citizens, by your suffrages with a seat in Congress, I can only promise you to guard zealously your best interests—to devote what ability I may possess to the advocacy and preservation of all your rights—and to uphold and maintain, to the full extent of my power, whatever measures will redound to the welfare, freedom and honor of North Carolina. I sincerely and ardently desire that our people may soon be restored to the enjoyment of all their rights both of person and property, and that they may again be blessed with prosperity, liberty and happiness.

Very Respectfully,
Your Obedient Servant,
A. H. ARRINGTON.

Also the crop of Corn and Fodder, Horses, Mules, Hogs and Cattle, consisting of Beeves, Milch Cows, and Work Oxen. Dump and Ox Carts, Wagons and other Agricultural implements too tedious to mention. North Carolina Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

AT A MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE Company on the 27th of September, an assessment of 15 per cent. was levied on all premium Notes in the office of the Company at the time the losses occurred, to be paid in three instalments, viz: six, nine and twelve months from 1st October, 1865.

The amount of premium Notes on hand,	$220,000
" " Allowed Losses,	10,000
" " Unsettled do.	7,500

(There are some losses not yet reported, the amount of which, of course, cannot now be stated.)

The assessment may appear to be disproportionate to the amount of the losses; but the Directors, taking into consideration the changes in property by sale, without transfer of policies, by destruction during the war, &c., &c., do not think that more will be raised by it than will be needed to meet the actual wants of the Company.

There will be, necessarily some delay in the payment of the losses. It is hoped, however, that there will be no complaint on this account; especially, when it is recollected that payment in some cases, was tendered in Confederate currency and refused.

The Company is prepared to take risks as in former times, and on as favorable terms. Address all letters to the Secretary. T. H. SELBY, Pres't.

LOUISBURG
FEMALE COLLEGE.

REV. T. M. JONES, A. M., Pres't and Proprietor.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION will begin on the second Wednesday in January, 1866.

Louisburg is a village seldom surpassed for health, intelligence, refinement and morality. It is in Franklin County nine miles from Franklinton, on the R. and Gaston Railroad. Between these points there is a daily stage line, connecting with trains going North and South.

The College building, located in a beautiful grove, on an elevated site is large, commodious and well ventilated. It will be thoroughly renovated and fitted up with neat furniture and fire places in the dormitories. It is our purpose to establish for young ladies a school of the highest grade affording superior facilities for the acquisition of a thorough and accomplished education.

With the advantages of a good library, a well selected Chemical and Philosophical apparatus, a competent Faculty and large experience in connection with the Greensboro Female College, we hope, by a faithful discharge of duty, to merit a liberal share of patronage. Boarding pupils will live as members of the President's family. Terms reasonable, and will be made known in due time. Those desiring to send their daughters, will please address me, for the present, at Greensboro, N. C., and circulars will be sent.

T. M. JONES.
